by foucault on madness literature and structuralism perceiving an enigmatic relationship between madness language and literature french philosopher michel foucault developed ideas during the 1960s that are less explicit in his later more well known writings collected here these previously unpublished texts reveal a foucault who undertakes an analysis of language and experience detached from their historical constraints three issues predominate the experience of madness across societies madness and language in artaud rousset and baroque theater and structuralist literary criticism not only do these texts pursue concepts unique to this period such as the extra linguistic but they also reveal a far more complex relationship between structuralism and foucault than has typically been acknowledged first published in 1996 routledge is an imprint of taylor francis an informa company how does cajun literature emerging in the 1980s represent the dynamic processes of remembering in cajun culture known for its hybrid constitution and deeply ingrained oral traditions cajun culture provides an ideal testing ground for investigating the collective memory of a group in particular francophone and anglophone cajun texts by such writers as jean arceneaux tim gautreaux jeanne castille zachary richard ron thibodeaux darrell bourque and kirby jambon reveal not only a shift from an oral to a written tradition they also show hybrid perspectives on the cajun collective memory based on recurring references to place the texts also reflect on the acadian past and reveal the innate ability of the cajuns to adapt through repeated intertextual references the cajun collective memory is thus defined by a transnational outlook a transversality cutting across various ethnic heritages to establish and legitimize a collective identity both amid the linguistic and cultural diversity in louisiana and in the face of american mainstream culture cajun literature and cajun collective memory represents the first analysis of the mnemonic strategies cajun writers use to explore and sustain the cajun identity and collective memory ireland possesses an early and exceptionally rich medieval vernacular tradition in which memory plays a key role what attitudes to remembering and forgetting are expressed in secular early irish texts how do the texts conceptualise the past and what does this conceptualisation tell us about the present and future who mediates and validates different versions of the past and how is future remembrance guaranteed this study approaches such questions through close readings of individual texts it centres on three major aspects of medieval irish memory culture places and landscapes the provision of information about the past by miraculously old eye witnesses and the personal social and cultural impact of forgetting the discussions shed light on the relationship between memory and forgetting and explore the connections between the past present and future this shows the fascinating spatio temporal identity constructions in medieval ireland and links the irish texts to the broader european world the monograph makes this rich literary sources available to an interdisciplinary audience and is of interest to both a general medievalist audience and those working in cultural memory studies teaching english literature 16 19 is an essential new resource that is suitable for use both as an introductory guide for those new to teaching literature and also as an aid to reflection and renewal for more experienced teachers using the central philosophy that students will learn best when actively engaged in discussion and encouraged to apply what they have learnt independently this highly practical new text contains discussion of the principles behind the teaching of literature at this level guidelines on course planning pedagogy content and subject knowledge advice on teaching literature taking into account a range of broader contexts such as literary criticism literary theory performance publishing creative writing and journalism examples of practical activities worksheets and suggestions for texts guides to available resources aimed at english teachers teacher trainees teacher trainers and advisors this resource is packed full of new and workable ideas for teaching all english literature courses this book grew out of the author s wish to go beyond a formal definition of fantasy to discover a basic urge and interest common to the genre he finds this urge to be the celebration of identity fantasy is ultimately concerned to heighten and praise being whether that being is god s creation the world or the creations of the fantasy writer themselves this interest can take the form of direct eulogy or of more unconscious fascination it is seen in fantasy s conservatism and its frequently elegiac mode and is demonstrated through its formal characteristics such as circular structure and the use of juxtaposition to heighten individuality it is more overtly present in modern than in pre 1800 fantasy partly because modern fantasy developed as a romantic reaction against technology and everything that reduced direct contact between people and the environment these aspects of fantasy are illustrated from detailed discussion of the tales of grimm walter de la mare s told again w m thackeray s the rose and the ring charles williams s prose fantasies ursula le guin s earthsea trilogy e nesbit s magic books george macdonald s phantastes and lilith t h white s the once and future king mervyn peake s gormenghast novels william morris s late romances lord dunsany s the king of elfland s daughter e r eddison s the worm ouroboros and peter beagle s the last unicorn together these authors and works provide a cross section of what is a fundamentally panegyric genre demonstrating its variety its strengths and its limitations this volume addresses cultural and literary narratives of trauma in south asian literature presenting a novel cross cultural perspective on trauma theory the essays within this volume study the divergent cultural responses to trauma and violence in various parts of south asia including sri lanka bangladesh nepal and afghanistan which have received little attention in literary writings on trauma in their specific circumstances through comprehensive sociocultural understanding of the region this book creates an approachable space where trauma engages with themes like racial identity ethnicity nationality religious dogma and cultural environment with case studies from kashmir the 1971 liberation war of bangladesh and armed conflict in nepal and afghanistan the volume will be of interest to scholars students and researchers of literature history politics conflict studies and south asian studies this collection of papers examines the relationship between the teaching of language and the teaching of literature to non native students the book attempts to identify key theoretical issues and principles as a basis for further discussion a new history of german literature offers some 200 essays on events in german literary history the continual rise of english as a global lingua franca has meant that english literature both as a discipline and as a tool in esl and efl classrooms is being used in varied ways outside the inner circle of english this edited collection provides an overview of english literature education in the asia pacific global times bringing to international attention a rich understanding of the trends issues and challenges specific to nations within the asia pacific region comprising contributions from australia china hong kong india indonesia malaysia philippines singapore and vietnam the collection addresses the diversity of learners in different national cultural and teaching contexts in doing so it provides insights into historical and current trends in literature education foregrounds specific issues and challenges in policymaking and implementation presents practical matters concerning text selection use of literature in the language classroom innovative practices in literature education and raises pressing and important questions about the nature purpose and importance of literature education in global times first published in 2002 routledge is an imprint of taylor francis an informa company critiquing the fictive nature of socially accepted values about gender the authors unravel the strategies adopted by writers and filmmakers in de constructing the gendered self in mainland china taiwan and hong kong for generations of german speaking jews the works of goethe and schiller epitomized the world of european high culture a realm that jews actively participated in as both readers and consumers yet from the 1830s on jews writing in german also produced a vast corpus of popular fiction that was explicitly jewish in content audience and function middlebrow literature and the making of german jewish identity offers the first comprehensive investigation in english of this literature which sought to navigate between tradition and modernity between jewish history and the german present and between the fading walls of the ghetto and the promise of a new identity as members of a german bourgeoisie this study examines the ways in which popular fiction assumed an unprecedented role in shaping jewish identity during this period it locates in nineteenth century germany a defining moment of the modern jewish experience and the beginnings of a tradition of jewish belles lettres that is in many ways still with us today the study of the books of chronicles has focused in the past mainly on its literary relationship to historical books such as samuel and kings less attention was paid to its possible relationships to the priestly literature against this backdrop this volume aims to examine the literary and socio historical relationship between the books of chronicles and the priestly literature in the pentateuch and in ezekeiel since chronicles and pentateuch and also ezekeiel studies have been regarded as separate fields of study we invited experts from both fields in order to open a space for fruitful discussions with each other the contributions deal with connections and interactions between specific texts ideas and socio historical contexts of the literary works as well as with broad observations of the relationship between them this work is a critical evaluation of the concepts of convention and innovation as applied in the study of changing literary values hierarchies and canons two approaches are analyzed 1 the linking of convention and the subject s awareness of convention and 2 systems theory the merits of both approaches are discussed and an attempt is made to combine them and to regard systems of literary communication primarily as systems of conventions specific cases of changing conventions and innovation are illustrated with examples from the field of versification rimbaud reception studies puskin goethe george eliot the dichotomy of forgetting remembering nietzsche proust avant garde the american dream and popular genres assimilated in postmodernism cultural memory a subtle and comprehensive process of identity formation promotion and transmission is considered as a set of symbolic practices and protocols with particular emphasis on repositories of memory and the institutionalized forms in which they are embodied health sciences literature review made easy helps students and practitioners better understand scientific literature by instilling the essential skills via the matrix method needed to critically evaluate article findings the fundamental principles of searching organizing reviewing and synthesizing are covered at the most basic level visual examples and a single case study are woven throughout the text this easy to read and practical reference is an invaluable aid to students researchers and practitioners the third edition has been completely revised and updated to reflect the switch the routledge companion to literature and emotion shows how the affective turn in the humanities applies to literary studies deftly combining the scientific elements with the literary the book provides a theoretical and topical introduction to reading literature and emotion looking at a variety of formats including novels drama film graphic fiction and lyric poetry the book also includes focus on specific authors such as shakespeare chaucer jane austen virginia woolf and viet thanh nguyen the volume introduces the theoretical groundwork covering such categories as affect theory affective neuroscience cognitive science evolution and history of emotions it examines the range of emotions that play a special role in literature including happiness fear aesthetic delight empathy and sympathy as well as aspects of literature style narrative voice and others that bear on emotional response finally it explores ethical and political concerns that are often intertwined with emotional response including racism colonialism disability ecology gender sexuality and trauma this is a crucial guide to the ways in which new interdisciplinary understandings of emotion and affect in fields from neuroscience to social theory are changing the study of literature and of the ways those new understandings are impacted by work on literature also this book advocates for a stronger role for young adult literature in ela classrooms compellingly documenting how this body of work meets both the needs of adolescent students and the demands of the common core for complex texts and tasks integrating young adult literature through the common core standards provides a compelling template for teachers that uses young adult literature and inquiry learning to meet students needs and the demands of the common core standards the first part of the book addresses the widely adopted common core state standards by examining closely the standards model of text complexity and demonstrating how young adult literature can fill the requirements of this model the second part provides theoretical discussions and analysis of the standards as well as concrete applications of young adult literature within the classroom in order to give school professionals a comprehensive understanding of how young adult literature and the standards can work together the book empowers schools and teachers to make intelligent informed decisions about texts and instructional practices that benefit their students finally the authors explore a powerful teaching approach that integrates current understandings about learning young adult literature and the common core standards in a way that will facilitate greater learning and understanding in english classrooms this book offers the most comprehensive and up to date history of ancient greek literature from homer to late antiquity its clear structure and detailed presentation of greek authors and their works as well as literary genres and phenomena makes it an indispensable reference work for all those interested in greek antiquity the island of ireland is home to one of the world s great literary and artistic traditions this book reads irish literature and art in context of the island s coastal and maritime cultures beginning with the late imperial experiences of jack and william butler yeats and ending with the contemporary work of anne enright and sinead morrissey it includes chapters on key historical texts such as erskine childers s the riddle of the sands and on contemporary writers including eiléán ní chuilleanáin and kevin barry it sets a diverse range of writing and visual art in a fluid panorama of liquid associations that connect irish literature to an archipelago of other times and places situated within contemporary conversations about the blue and the environmental humanities this book builds on the upsurge of interest in seas and coasts in literary studies presenting james joyce elizabeth bowen john banville and many others in new coastal and maritime contexts in doing so it creates a literary and visual narrative of irish coastal cultures across a seaboard that extends to a planetary configuration of imagined islands in one of the contributions to this edited volume an interviewee argues that english is power for researchers in the field of english studies this raises the questions of where the power of english resides and which types and practices of power are implied in the uses of english linguists scholars of literature and culture and language educators address aspects of these questions in a wide range of contributions the book shows that the power of english can oscillate between empowerment and subjection on the one hand enabling humans to develop manifold capabilities and on the other constraining their scope of action and reflection in this edited volume a case is made for self critical english studies to be dialogic empowering and power critical in approach the psychology and sociology of literature is a collection of 25 chapters on literature by some of the leading psychologists sociologists and literary scholars in the field of the empirical study of literature contributors include ziva ben porat gerry cupchik art graesser rachel giora norbert groeben colin martindale david miall willie van peer kees van rees siegfried schmidt hugo verdaasdonk and rolf zwaan topics include literature and the reading process the role of poetic language metaphor and irony cathartic and freudian effects literature and creativity the career of the literary author literature and culture literature and multicultural society literature and the mass media literature and the internet and literature and history an introduction by the editors situates the empirical study of literature within an academic context the chapters are all invited and refereed contributions collected to honor the scholarship and retirement of professor elrud ibsch of the free university of amsterdam together they represent the state of the art in the empirical study of literature a movement in literary studies which aims to produce reliable and valid scientific knowledge about literature as a means of verbal communication in its cultural context elrud ibsch was one of the pioneers in europe to promote this approach to literature some 25 years ago and this volume takes stock of what has happened since the psychology and sociology of literature presents an invaluable overview of the results promises gaps and needs of the empirical study of literature it addresses social scientists as well as scholars in the humanities who are interested in literature as discourse
