

credited with the sales of thousands of television sets the variety show formula was a staple of television in its first 30 years in part because it lent itself to a medium where everything had to be live and preferably inside a studio most of the early television stars including jackie gleason milton berle sid caesar ed sullivan red skelton dinah shore and arthur godfrey rose to prominence through weekly variety shows in the 1960s major stars such as jerry lewis dean martin judy garland and danny kaye were hosting variety shows by the 1970s the format was giving way to sitcoms and dramas but pop music stars sonny and cher tony orlando and dawn and donny and marie osmond hosted some of the last of the species this book details 57 variety shows from the 1940s through the 1990s a history of each show is first provided followed by a brief look at each episode air date guest stars sketches performed and a listing of songs featured are included the map tv guide to film and of norman lear beginning in 1971 with the premier of all in the family lear s work gave sitcoms a new face and a new style no longer were families perfect and lives in order mostly blue collar workers and their families lear s characters argued struggled uttered sometimes shocking opinions and had no problem contributing to or at least acknowledging the turmoil so shunned by 1960s television significantly not only did lear address difficult issues but he did so through successful programming week after week americans tuned in to see the family adventures of the bunkers the jeffersons and sanford and son with a thorough analysis of his sitcoms this volume explores norman lear s memorable production career during the 1970s it emphasizes how lear s shows reflected the political and cultural milieu and how they addressed societal issues including racism child abuse and gun control the casting production and behind the screen difficulties of all in the family sanford son maude good times the jeffersons and one day at a time are discussed each show is examined from inception through series finale interviews with some of the actors and actresses such as rue mcclanahan of burst onto our screens with such a wonderful cast and storylines season 1 was my favourite as it had so many plot twists and turns a little dumbed down in later seasons I thought sometimes wonder with recent world events if this is more true to life these days the text takes a theoretical approach to media criticism and includes aesthetic sociological economic structural psychoanalytical and ethical perspectives for students in media criticism literacy media society and related areas from Ken Burns's documentaries to historical dramas such as Roots from a e.s. biography series to CNN television has become the primary source for historical information for tens of millions of Americans today why has television become such a respected authority what falsehoods enter our collective memory as truths how is one to know what is real and what is imagined or ignored by producers directors or writers Gary Edgerton and Peter Rollins have collected a group of essays that answer these and many other questions the contributors examine the full spectrum of historical genres but also institutions such as the History Channel and production histories of such series as the Jack Benny show which ran for fifteen years the authors explore the tensions between popular history and professional history and the tendency of some academics to declare the past off-limits to nonscholars several of them point to the tendency for television histories to embed current concerns and priorities within the past as in such popular shows as Quantum Leap and Dr. Quinn Medicine Woman the result is an insightful portrayal of the power television possesses to influence our culture Rowan and Martin's Laugh In was one of the most unusual programs on television defying definition as simply comedy
