after the turkish war 1877 1878 i made a series of travels in the orient from the little remarkable balkan peninsula i went across the caucasus to central asia and persia and finally in 1887 visited india an admirable country which had attracted me from my earliest childhood my purpose in this journey was to study and know at home the peoples who inhabit india and their customs the grand and mysterious archaeology and the colossal and majestic nature of their country wandering about without fixed plans from one place to another i came to mountainous afghanistan whence i regained india by way of the picturesque passes of bolan and guernai then going up the indus to raval pindi i ran over the pendjab the land of the five rivers visited the golden temple of amritsa the tomb of the king of pendjab randjid singh near lahore and turned toward kachmyr the valley of eternal bliss thence i directed my peregrinations as my curiosity impelled me until i arrived in ladak whence i intended returning to russia by way of karakoroum and chinese turkestan one day while visiting a buddhist convent on my route i learned from a chief lama that there existed in the archives of lhasa very ancient memoirs relating to the life of jesus christ and the occidental nations and that certain great monasteries possessed old copies and translations of those chronicles as it was little probable that i should make another journey into this country i resolved to put off my return to europe until a later date and cost what it might either find those copies in the great convents or go to lhasa a journey which is far from being so dangerous and difficult as is generally supposed involving only such perils as i was already accustomed to and which would not make me hesitate at attempting it during my sojourn at leh capital of ladak i visited the great convent himis situated near the city the chief lama of which informed me that their monastic library contained copies of the manuscripts in question in order that i might not awaken the suspicions of the authorities concerning the object of my visit to the cloister and to evade obstacles which might be opposed to me as a russian prosecuting further my journey in thibet i gave out upon my return to leh that i would depart for india and so left the capital of ladak an unfortunate fall causing the breaking of a leg furnished me with an absolutely unexpected pretext for returning to the monastery where i received surgical attention i took advantage of my short sojourn among the lamas to obtain the consent of their chief that they should bring to me from their library the manuscripts relating to jesus christ and assisted by my interpreter who translated for me the thibetan language transferred carefully to my notebook what the lama read to me not doubting at all the authenticity of this chronicle edited with great exactitude by the brahminic and more especially the buddhistic historians of india and nepaul i desired upon my return to europe to publish a translation of it to this end i addressed myself to several universally known ecclesiastics asking them to revise my notes and tell me what they thought of them mgr platon the celebrated metropolitan of kiew thought that my discovery was of great importance nevertheless he sought to dissuade me from publishing the memoirs believing that their publication could only hurt me why this the venerable prelate refused to tell me more explicitly nevertheless since our conversation took place in russia where the censor would have put his veto upon such a work i made up my mind to wait german russian immigrants hadsettled in a small remote homestead hannah lozing one of anna s eight children asked the author to write about the difficult life her mother endured to pay homage toher mother s strength and resilience this book is a testament to one woman s brave response to the overwhelming challenges in her life when i started to write this book about four years ago shortly after the seventh anniversary of 9 11 my primary motivation was psychological welfare i needed answers to many unanswered questions for sanity s sake the unknown is an autobiography about the author s struggle through an abusive and violent childhood he pens traumatic episode after traumatic episode for survival s sake on a quest to find healing justice and inner peace with an abusive relationship or relationships comes inner conflict and demons which joe must face in order to become a better stronger person having spent most of his life trekking through peaks and valleys pits of hell and dark tunnels his fight has been for freedom psychological and emotional it s an authentic or nonfictional version of dante s inferno along the way he did in fact become a better stronger person and no longer wishes healing and freedom just upon himself but amongst all those who have suffered at the hands of another be it a family member bully of some sort rapist gang cult or evil dictator even joe has become passionate about justice achieving just outcomes or resolutions for those who have been victimized in some way shape or form he s passionate about the destruction of evil and the protection of good an entrepreneur spends time looking for solutions to problems which will hopefully improve quality of life still thinking in a positive light they focus on the negative looking at what s not to determine what is exploring unknown territory joe went into the unknown for answers regarding the pains that tore him and his twin brother apart before he even knew what the word entrepreneurship meant was it my fault was it his were my parents to blame what went wrong when did things become ugly he also went into the unknown seeking the ingredients to a good life for health and happiness the unknown after three years of tunneling is a memoir that most should find intriguing educational and surprisingly entertaining
