what is good luck and what did it mean to the romans what connections were there between luck and success this volume aims to address these questions by focusing on the latin goddess fortuna who was connected to the concept of chance and good fortune and analysing the changing interactions with deity and concept in ancient italy

Ancient Narrative Volume 9 2023-12-31 the book explores ancient interpretations and usages of the famous delphic maxim know yourself the primary emphasis is on jewish christian and greco roman sources from the first four centuries ce the individual contributions examine both direct quotations of the maxim as well as more distant echoes most of the sources included in the book have never previously been studied in any detail with a view to their use and interpretation of the delphic maxim thus the book contributes significantly to the origin and different interpretations of the maxim in antiquity as well as to its reception history in ancient philosophical and theological discourses the chapters of the book are linked to each other by numerous cross references which makes it possible to compare the different views of the maxim with each other it also helps readers to notice relationships and trajectories within the material the explorations of the relevant sources are also set in the context of ongoing debates about the shape and nature of ancient conceptions of self and self knowledge the book thus demonstrates the wide variety of philosophical and theological approaches in that the injunction to know oneself could be viewed and how these interpretations provide windows into ancient discourses about self and self knowledge the papers in this volume derive from the first international conference on archaeology of the ancient mediterranean malta 1985 the field remains divided between the view supporting the existence of a universal belief in an all pervading and all embracing mother goddess of which the fertility cult is just one albeit important aspect and the view questioning the very bases of that theory this conference showed that there seems to be a greater disposition for further dialogue the fertility content in near eastern and classical religions remains indisputable the conference proved to be also not accidentally of special significance to maltese archaeology the volume is divided into four sections section i prehistory section ii prehistory malta section iii phoenician and near eastern religions section iv the greco roman world rewriting is one of the most crucial but at the same time one of the most elusive concepts of literary scholarship in order to contribute to a further reassessment of such a notion this volume investigates a wide range of medieval and early modern literary transformations especially focusing on texts and contexts of italian and french renaissance literature the first section of the book rewriting gathers essays which examine medieval and early modern rewritings while also pointing out the theoretical implications raised by such texts the second part rewritings in early modern literature collects contributions which account for different practices of rewriting in the italian and french renaissance for instance by analysing dynamics of repetition and duplication verbatim reproduction and free reworking textual production and authorial self fashioning alterity and identity replication and multiplication the volume strives at shedding light on the complexity of the relationship between early modern and ancient literature perfectly summed up in the motto written by pieter aertsen in a letter to his friend the painter giulio romano in 1542 essere modernamente antichi e anticamente moderni space and time have been key concepts of investigation in the humanities in recent years in the field of classics in particular they have led to the fresh appraisal of genres such as epic historiography the novel and biography by enabling a close focus on how ancient texts invest their representations of space and time with a variety of symbolic and cultural meanings this collection of essays by a team of international scholars seeks to make a contribution to this rich interdisciplinary field by exploring how space and time are perceived linguistically codified and portrayed in the biographical and philosophical work of plutarch of chaeronea 1st 2nd centuries ce the volume s aim is to show how philological approaches in conjunction with socio cultural readings can shed light on plutarch s spatial terminology and clarify his conceptions of time especially in terms of the ways in which he situates himself in his era s fascination with the past the volume s intended readership includes classicists intellectual and cultural historians and scholars whose field of expertise embraces theoretical study of space and time along with the linguistic strategies used to portray them in literary or historical texts

this wide ranging collection consisting of 50 essays by leading international scholars in a variety of fields provides an overview of the reception history of a major literary genre from greco roman antiquity to the present day section i considers how the 5th and 4th century athenian comic poets defined themselves and their plays especially in relation to other major literary forms it then moves on to the roman world and to the reception of greek comedy there in art and literature section ii deals with the european reception of greek and roman comedy in the medieval renaissance and early modern periods and with the european stage tradition of comic theater more generally section iii treats the handling of greco roman comedy in the modern world with attention not just to literary translations and stage productions but to more modern media such as radio and film the collection will be of interest to students of ancient comedy as well as to all those concerned with how literary and theatrical traditions are passed on from one time and place to another and adapted to meet local conditions and concerns
