The Law of Nations 2018-10-26 christian wolff s natural law theory was founded on his rationalist philosophy and metaphysics which were strongly influenced by the philosophy of gottfried wilhelm leibniz like leibniz wolff was convinced that justice and morality were based on universally valid principles of reason and that these principles were accessible to human understanding without the aid of religious revelation wolff did not therefore follow the voluntarist tradition of natural law which was characteristic of germany s two other famous natural jurists of the early enlightenment samuel pufendorf and christian thomasius the laws of nature wolff argued were not just because god had willed them rather god had willed them because they were just according to wolff this natural law was the foundation of the law of nations wolff s work considered central issues such as the duties of nations toward themselves and other nations the laws of war and peace and the laws governing the treatment of diplomatic representatives with the liberty fund edition wolff s work heretofore relatively unknown to the english speaking world will again become available to scholars and students alike

The Law of Nations 2012 excerpt from the law of sales i conceive law to be the aggregation of rules which courts of justice feel themselves more or less obligated to follow in deciding controversies to some extent these rules are formulated and declared by legislative author ity most of them however have been evolved by judges themselves these latter rules are not always easy to formulate if they were there would be no need for real text books even the precise utterances of various judges can not always be accepted as rules i believe that no judge has power either practically or theoretically to bind other judges by any declaration of rule or command but that the only obligation felt by courts is the obligation to conform to prior judicial action it is therefore prior judicial conduct under given circumstances which determines the action of later judges rather than prior declarations as to what such conduct ought to be about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Law of Nations 2015-10-20 excerpt from the law of sales to derive the best from any book one must read it with knowledge of the ideas which underlie it and of the purpose with which it was produced every sincere book relating to law is inevitably and distinctly colored by its author's idea of what law is therefore it seems proper for me to present my own views I conceive law to be the aggregation of rules which courts of justice feel themselves more or less obligated to follow in deciding controversies to some extent these rules are formulated and declared by legislative authority most of them however have been evolved by judges themselves these latter rules are not always easy to formulate if they were there would be no need for real text books even the precise utterances of various judges can not always be accepted as rules I believe that no judge has power either practically or theoretically to bind other judges by any declaration of rule or command but that the only obligation felt by courts is the obligation to conform to prior judicial action it is therefore prior judicial conduct under given circumstances which determines the action of later judges rather than prior declarations as to what such conduct ought to be about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Law of Nations 2020-03-14 excerpt from a treatise on the law of sales of personal property with illustrations from the foreign law sir edward coke in the preface to the 8th part of his reports says as naturalists say that there is no kind of fowl of the wood or of the plain that doth not bring somewhat to the building of the eagle's nest some cinnamon or things of price some juniper or things of lesser value so ought every man according to his power place and capacity to bring something to the adorning of our great eagle's nest our own dear country and these presents I have brought to that great eagle's nest the law about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Law of Nations 2014-02 randy alcorn best selling author of the treasure principle makes a clear compelling case for an underemphasized scriptural principle that believers will receive differing rewards in heaven depending on their actions and choices here on earth taken mainly from excerpts of money possessions and eternity the law of rewards shows how our faith determines our eternal destination but our behavior determines our eternal rewards the law of rewards is published in association with generous giving inc a ministry of the maclellan foundation which offers practical tools and events designed to transform hearts and minds for revolutionary generosity

The Law of Outer Space 2010-09-10 the fourth edition of the principles of the law of restitution brings this widely cited and influential volume fully up to date substantially rewritten to reflect significant changes in the law of restitution and the expansion in the theoretical and critical commentary on the subject this book is grounded in its clarity of exposition and analysis the new edition significantly expands existing chapters on the treatment of the history of unjust enrichment enrichment the treatment of legally effective bases for receipt and compulsion it further expands existing parts on restitution for wrongs and proprietary restitutionary claims as well as offering completely new chapters dealing with at the claimant s expense absence of intent and the defence of illegality focusing primarily on english law the volume also engages with the law in other common law jurisdictions notably australia canada new zealand and singapore it provides a clear exposition of complex areas of law as well as critical analysis of that law timely and comprehensive this book provides readers with a crucial guide to the law of restitution and will continue to be invaluable to student academics and practitioners alike

The Law of Nations 2014-03 this monograph elucidates common legal principles underlying the use of juridical powers it addresses both public law and private law and examines both the common law and the civil law it aims to provide a theory of how western law regulates the situations in which we hold legal powers not for ourselves but for and on behalf of others it does this by elucidating the justificatory principles that are attracted in those situations these principles include that other regarding powers can only properly be used for the purposes for which they were granted that they should not be used when the holder is in a conflict of self interest and duty or a conflict of duty and duty and that the holder is presumptively accountable for any profits extracted from the other regarding role these principles stand behind the detailed legal rules that govern these relationships in multiple legal systems and in multiple public and private settings in private law this includes the powers of trustees corporate directors agents and mandataries in public law it includes all powers held for public purposes whether they be held by the prime minister by a police officer or by a judge

A Discourse on the Study of the Law 1758 unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 we have not used ocr optical character recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 in books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc we have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy
