bestselling true crime author christopher berry dee s latest book tackles the heavy crime of people who randomly kill large numbers of others spree killers and those who set out to do so in specific places or situations mass killers as such killings become more frequent the ready availability and ease of obtaining firearms and weak background checks in the united states inevitably leads to many of these cases but there have been other recent examples in the united kingdom new zealand and norway where extremely robust firearms legislation could not stop these horrific crimes what is more difficult to establish is the motivation behind such killings some are occasioned by grievance real or imagined while others have their origins in a sense of failure or feelings of inadequacy yet others seem to be driven by a desire for power over their fellow humans often coupled with an overriding contempt for the lives of others in a search for answers christopher berry dee offers case studies in some of the most infamous mass killings of the past fifty years from school massacres to workplace killings hate crimes to familicides but is the awful truth that such murderers are almost impossible to predict and therefore almost impossible to prevent dig in and find out when crime and personality was first published in 1964 j a c brown writing in the new statesman commented there can be no doubt of the importance of professor eysenck s book on the nature and treatment of criminal behaviour this third edition originally published in 1977 had been completely revised and brought up to date and although the major theory linking personality and crime has been retained many of the details have been changed in conformity with recent research of the time the book presents a theory concerning the personality of criminals and offers evidence to show that these personality features characterising criminals are based on genetic foundations it is argued that criminality as a whole is not exclusively based on environmental factors as has so often been suggested but has a strong biological basis a good deal of evidence is reviewed showing that there are many data supporting this view from studies of identical and fraternal twins adopted children and comparisons between criminals and non criminals both in the western world and in communist countries professor eysenck suggests that important consequences follow from such an attempt to redress the one sided emphasis on environmental factors which had been so characteristic of the previous fifty years and some of these consequences are described in detail he further suggests that only proper understanding of the psychological factors making for antisocial behaviour will help in reversing the increasing burden that criminality places upon society the book also takes issue with political arguments of the time regarding the origins of criminality and shows that criminals behind the iron curtain show the same personality characteristics as do criminals in western countries thoughts can create worlds every time you dream you make worlds out of your own thoughts you do not make dreamworlds out of atoms out of matter how many people grasp the significance of this fact a dream in and of itself proves that a mind can create what convincingly passes as a material world even though the dreamworld emphatically isn t material but is made of thoughts produced by the mind of the dreamer why don t we indulge in the boldest of thoughts if one mind can build a dreamworld out of its own thoughts what would happen if all minds dreamt together what world might they create with their united effort with their thoughts pulled together and operating as one in fact they would build the very world we are living in right now this is a universe of thought and nothing but mind matters
