administration engineered a coup with help from neo nazis turning ukraine into a russia hating nation the war in ukraine began that year not in 2022 when russia attacked in order to protect the russian speaking regions under attack by the new coup government in kiev although this book is primarily about the war in ukraine it also shows how in one sense the war in ukraine is simply one more instance in the trajectory of american imperialism as illustrated by previous us interventions in iran guatemala cuba brazil greece dominican republic panama and iraq in another sense this war reveals just how committed america is to maintaining a unipolar world order because this war illustrates that america is willing to threaten nuclear holocaust it is almost as if people in the u s state department and military believe that life is not worth living unless the us can control the world the central focus of this book is a small but vitally important group of movements that constitute a distinct fifth wave of modern terrorism here called the new tribalism terrorist groups and the new tribalism examines a collection of terrorist or insurgent movements whose similarity in tactics, strategic vision, and desire to radically reshape their worlds to conform with a golden age dream of perfection which is to be achieved through a genocidal or ethnic cleansing process to make way for the emergence of a new radically perfected tribal utopia in a single generation. These shared strategic and tactical factors allow them to be examined through a comparative lens as a distinct fifth wave of modern terrorism structured around the theoretical framework of David Rapoport's four waves thesis. The book examines anomalous movements that began within a distinct wave of international terrorism but following a crisis model has turned inwards toward radical localism, tribalism, and xenophobia. The text is divided between theory and in-depth case studies of the Ugandan Lord's Resistance Army and the Sudanese Janjaweed. It concludes with a design for further field work based research. This book will be of interest to students of terrorism and political violence, genocide, conflict studies, African politics, and political science in general. Jeffrey Kaplan is an associate professor of religion and the director of the Institute for the Study of Religion, Violence, and Memory at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. He is the author of 11 books on terrorism and political violence.

Maximilian Kuhn investigates one of the most pressing yet neglected subjects in the field of global energy politics: the integration of the Iranian gas market. Possessing the world's second largest proven natural gas reserves, Iran is a hypothetical energy giant in waiting. Yet over three decades of internal divisions, coupled with crippling international sanctions, have left Iran unable to capitalize on its vast energy potential. Increasing global demand for natural gas and a government in constant need of finding new sources of revenue to meet the needs of a fast-growing population should lead Iran to eventually become a large-scale gas exporter. How this could take place and what the implications for global gas markets would be are the central research questions tackled by this study. The study allows a look beyond international politics, Iranian political decision-making, investment laws, and pipeline games.

DOMESTIC TERRORISM AND INCIDENT MANAGEMENT

In this book, William Durch examines conventional weapons proliferation since World War II, the role of arms transfers in fueling regional conflict, and prospects for curbing the global arms trade. Noting that supply-side arms control efforts, which seek to constrain the companies and countries that produce and distribute major conventional weapons, have a poor international track record, Durch argues for a broader approach that tries to get at the demand side of the equation, addressing the political and regional dynamics that impel arms acquisitions. He looks at how arms control might be combined with confidence and security building measures to contain demand and how value-based arms trade control measures, like codes of conduct, could be implemented in stepwise fashion consistent with US national interests in regional stability.

how it in turn has enfeebled congress and the courts the bomb also placed new emphasis on the president s military role creating a cult around the commander in chief the tendency of modern presidents to flaunt military airs wills points out is entirely a postbomb phenomenon finally the manhattan project inspired the vast secretive apparatus of the national security state including intelligence agencies such as the cia and nsa which remain largely unaccountable to congress and the american people wills recounts how following world war ii presidential power increased decade by decade until reaching its stunning apogee with the bush administration both provocative and illuminating bomb power casts the history of the postwar period in a new light and sounds an alarm about the continued threat to our constitution
