this book examines the crisis in ukraine tracing its development and analysing the factors which lie behind it it discusses above all how the two sides have engaged in political posturing accusations escalating sanctions and further escalating threats arguing that the ease with which both sides have reverted to a cold war mentality demonstrates that the cold war belief systems never really disappeared and that the hopes raised in the aftermath of the collapse of the soviet union for a new era in east west relations were misplaced the book pays special attention to the often ignored origins of the crisis within ukraine itself and the permanent damage caused by the fact that ukrainians are killing ukrainians in the eastern parts of the country it also assesses why cold war belief systems have re emerged so easily and concludes by considering the likely long term ramifications of the crisis arguing that the deep rooted lack of trust makes the possibility of compromise even harder than in the original cold war this book examines why when the conflict in eastern ukraine began in 2014 fighting broke out in the donets k region whereas it did not in kharkiv city despite the city like the donets k region being geographically proximate to russia and similar in ethnic and linguistic make up based on extensive original research the book argues that a key factor was the nature and behaviour of local elites with those in kharkiv having diffuse ties to the centre and therefore being more capable of adapting to sudden profound regime change at the centre whereas the elites in the donets k region had much more concentrated ties to the centre were dependent on one network and therefore were much less able to cope with change the book thereby demonstrates how crucial for ukraine are patronal politics patronage networks and informal centre region relations and that it was these local political circumstances rather than russia which brought about the

the un security council is entrusted under the un charter with primary responsibility for the maintenance and restoration of the international peace it is the only body with the power to authorise military intervention legally and impose international sanctions where it decides however its decision making process has hitherto been obscure and allegations of political bias have been made against the security council in its responses to potential international threats despite the rule of law featuring on the security council s agenda for over a decade and a un general assembly declaration in 2012 establishing that the rule of law should apply internally to the un the security council has yet to formulate or incorporate a rule of law framework that would govern its decision making process this book explains the necessity of a rule of law framework for the security council before analysing existing literature and un documents on the domestic and international rule of law in search of concepts suitable for transposition to the arena of the security council it emerges with eight core components which form a bespoke rule of law framework for the security council against this framework the security council s decision making process since the end of the cold war is meticulously evaluated illustrating explicitly where and how the rule of law has been undermined or neglected in its behaviour ultimately the book concludes that the security council and other bodies are unwilling or unable adequately to regulate the decision making process against a suitable rule of law framework and argues that there exists a need for the external regulation of council practice and judicial review of its decisions
