Readers Theatre for Children 2015-05-26 this text is a review of some changes that have recently taken place in literary creation and script writing in tv programs for children 0-6 years a new image of child audience at home has recently emerged children are active and living in media immersion new quality criteria have emerged for production of attractive socio-emotional tv programs the review is addressed to tv professionals working in tv script design and literary creation for children audiovisual programs

Quality Criteria in children TV 2005 scripting is a teaching method designed to help children and adults with autism spectrum disorders asds who are nonverbal or who are verbal but don't initiate conversation to initiate conversation the authors draw on years of experience using scripts in their own clinic and include many case studies that show how scripts have worked the book defines scripts as an audiotape or written word phrase or sentence that enables young people with autism to use speech to start and continue conversations at first a child is taught to play the recording of a word for an adult and then get a reaction from the adult e.g. if he plays the script juice the adult will give him a sip of juice or if he plays the script ball the adult will play ball with him later on the child is taught to play the script and then say the word himself and get the reward from the adult as the child becomes better at talking scripts are lengthened to become phrases want juice or play ball and then sentences and once the child can read scripts are written instead of recorded as the child masters sets of scripts the adult begins to diminish fade the prompts if the script was recorded words are gradually deleted from the recording e.g. if the script started out saying where is mom they will re-record it so it just says where is and then where at this point the child should fill in the blanks

Teaching Conversation to Children with Autism 2009-02-19 a handbook for therapists that contains everything needed when using hypnotherapy with children and young people in addition to providing a collection of highly usable hypnotic scripts for children from six to sixteen it offers an easy-to-follow solution focused way to structure treatment sessions in addition background information advice contra-indications and possible pitfalls are provided on common and not so common problems that children may present
