Roll of Officers of the Old County Regiment of Lancashire Militia Late 1st Royal Lancashire (The Duke of Lancaster's Own) Now 3rd & 4th Battalions the King's Own (Royal Lancaster) Regiment, from 1642 to 1889 Corrected to May 1st, 1889 1889 in writing this short account of the 2nd battalion in mesopotamia my aim has not been to write a military history of all that was achieved that will be the task of some one more competent to judge of merits and demerits than myself my object has been to give an account in simple language of the two years spent by the battalion in the iraq so that the children of the men of the regiment may know of the brave deeds and the hardships cheerfully borne on their behalf this book is part of the world war one centenary series creating collating and reprinting new and old works of poetry fiction autobiography and analysis the series forms a commemorative tribute to mark the passing of one of the world s bloodiest wars offering new perspectives on this tragic yet fascinating period of human history each publication also includes brand new introductory essays and a timeline to help the reader place the work in its historical context

With a Highland Regiment in Mesopotamia 2020-10-30 contains the annual reports of various ohio state governmental offices including the attorney general governor secretary of state etc

With a Highland Regiment in Mesopotamia (WWI Centenary Series) 2021-01-08 this is an accounting of the experiences of the soldiers of hardcastle s 3rd battalion mississippi infantry from enlistment to the end of the war it includes their mid war incarnation as the 45th mississippi regiment and the role they played in cleburne s fabled division during almost every major engagement of the army of tennessee told as much as possible from the point of view of the soldier the book shows what motivated the original volunteers to join and continue fighting to the end

The History of Battery E, First Regiment Rhode Island Light Artillery, in the War of 1861 and 1865, to Preserve the Union 1892 this is a rare and comprehensive study that combines combat political and administrative history it shows the reader not only how this regiment fought but also how it was administered for better or for worse how commissions were gained and lost and how under the hammer blows of repeated battles this unit eventually became one of the union s most steadfast reliable fighting formations

History of Delaware County, Indiana 1881 reprint of the original first published in 1875

Message and Annual Reports for ..., Made to the ... General Assembly of Ohio .. 1873 the book chronicles the extensive training and heroic service of the new york national guard s 104th field artillery regiment from the period of 1916 to 1919 the regiment initially called the 1st field artillery regiment served as border patrol in texas during the mexican punitive expedition in 1916 and trained at the gunnery field at la gloria texas during world war i they trained by the glassy mountains at camp wadsworth in south carolina and then at the school of fire of camp de souge near bordeaux france because of this extensive training elements of the 27th division were splintered off and placed within a number of other divisions the 52nd field artillery brigade under which the 104th field artillery regiment served was attached to the 33rd division as their artillery and then the 79th division for the entire Meuse-Argonne offensive near Verdun using field diaries, photos and letters. Their story of courage under extreme conditions including enemy shelling and gas is recorded and their memory preserved.

Executive Documents 1872 though officially one of the Confederate States, much of upper east Tennessee remained loyal to the Union. This loyalty was so fierce that it became necessary for the Confederacy to occupy the area. Driven from their homes, many men slipped through Confederate lines and joined the Union Army. The Thirteenth Regiment is one unit whose roster consisted of these loyal Lincolnites, primarily made up of men from Johnson and Carter counties.

History of Randolph County, Indiana 1882. In the early 1770s, the 33rd Foot acquired a reputation as the best trained regiment in the British Army. This reputation would be tested beyond breaking point over the course of the American Revolutionary War, from Saratoga to South Carolina. The 33rd was one of the most heavily engaged units on either side throughout the war. The 33rd's rise to prominence stemmed from its colonel, Charles Earl Cornwallis, who took over in 1766 in a period where senior officers wielded huge influence over their own regiments. Cornwallis proved to be the best kind of commander: diligent and meticulous. He focussed on improving the 33rd in every regard, from drills and field exercises to the quality of the unit's weapons and clothing. The 33rd subsequently became known as the pattern for the Army, the unit on which other successful regiments were based prior to the outbreak of fighting in the American colonies. In 1775, the 33rd's abilities, particularly in new light infantry drills, were frequently praised. At one point, they even assisted in training the elite regiments of the Foot Guards. The 33rd missed the first year of the Revolutionary War but sailed in early 1776 as part of the ill-fated expedition to capture Charleston in South Carolina. After joining the main British force in North America outside New York in August 1776, the 33rd was brigaded with the best units in the Army, including the Composite Grenadier and Light Infantry Battalions. Over the next five years, the regiment engaged in every major battle of the Revolutionary War, from Long Island and Brandywine to Germantown and Monmouth. It even had one unlucky company of recruits present at Freeman's Farm and Bemis Heights, and the subsequent surrender at Saratoga. In 1780, the pattern was part of Britain's Southern Expedition, which put Cornwallis in command of the Crown's efforts to subdue the Carolinas. Here, the 33rd provided perhaps their greatest service and fought their most desperate battles at Camden and Guildford Courthouse. They marched to eventual defeat at Yorktown, but not all of the regiment's companies were captured, and some continued to serve actively elsewhere right up until the end of the war. This work is partly a regimental history giving the most detailed account yet of the 33rd's actions during the Revolutionary War. It is also, however, a broader study of the British Army during the Revolutionary era, assessing what a single regiment can tell us about wider issues affecting Britain's military: everything from training, weapons, and uniforms, organization, transportation, camp life, discipline, food, finances, and the role of women and camp followers is addressed alongside the marching, fighting, and dying done by the men of the regiment between 1775 and 1783. Primary sources, particularly engaging accounts such as those of Captain William Dansey or John Robert Shaw, a regular enlisted man, provide an engrossing narrative. To this part, social part military history of the British Army at war in the late eighteenth century.

Company I. 4th Massachusetts Regiment, Nine Months Volunteers, in Service, 1862-3 1863 vols for 1895 include official register of the land and naval forces of the State of New York. 1895 The Third Battalion Mississippi Infantry and the 45th Mississippi Regiment 2004. When members of the Society of Friends or Quakers first arrived in antebellum Indiana, they could not have envisioned the struggle which would engulf the nation when the American Civil War began in 1861. Juxtaposed with its stand against slavery, a second tenet of the Society's creed, adherence to peace, also challenged the unity of Friends when the dreaded conflict erupted. Indiana Quakers confront the Civil War chronicles for the first time the military activities of Indiana Quakers during America's bloodiest war and explores the motivation behind the abandonment, at least temporarily, of their long-standing testimony against war.
