highly popular stories as an adolescent in the ensuing years he played a major role in rendering them first into classical and later into vernacular chinese in the late 1910s cheng began writing detective fiction very much in conan doyle s style with bao as the watson like i narrator a still rare instance of so direct an appropriation from foreign fiction cheng xiaoqing wrote detective stories to introduce the advantages of critical thinking to his readers to encourage them to be skeptical and think deeply because truth often lies beneath surface appearances his attraction to the detective fiction genre can be traced to the

this book contains five scripts three of which i owe a great debt of gratitude to tony reynolds as they are adaptations of stories taken from his wonderful book of sherlock holmes stories the lost stories of sherlock holmes the adventure of the medium the giant rat of sumatra and the adventure of the amazonian explorer as for the others holmes alone is a light hearted romp that borrows elements and characters from several other conan doyle tales the mazarin malediction is my attempt to embellish that oft maligned story the mazarin stone almost always ends this story in particular with a nod to mercantilism and the consolidation of the european world economy 1600 1750 studies in social discontinuity v 2 is sherlock holmes really as rational as he seems he talks about the importance of reasoning and logic but why then does he sometimes seem like a strange buddha on the other hand why in the sign of the four does watson smash a buddha what is going on in the sign of the four that strange tale of empire what is going on in all the original sixty stories in the canon in this study of the stories sheldon goldfarb explores questions like these from the significance of the eggs in thor bridge to the reason watson keeps leaving holmes for an insubstantial wife what meanings lurk beneath the surface of these detective stories why is there an obsession with napoleon in this story or an article on free trade in this other can we find answers to these questions perhaps in any case in this collection of essays or musings on each of the 60 stories dr goldfarb an award nominated mystery writer himself and the holder of a phd in english literature light heartedly tries out a variety of perspectives allowing readers to come to their own conclusions about such matters as the nature of the angel in a case of identity or the reason holmes abandons his magnifying glass
