The Chicken Little Agenda 2006-05-31

the distinguished philosopher robert m adams presents a major work on virtue which is once again a central topic in ethical thought a theory of virtue is a systematic comprehensive framework for thinking about the moral evaluation of character many recent attempts to stake out a place in moral philosophy for this concern define virtue in terms of its benefits for the virtuous person or for human society more generally in part one of this book adams presents and defends a conception of virtue as intrinsic excellence of character worth prizing for its own sake and not only for its benefits in the other two parts he addresses two challenges to the ancient idea of excellence of character one challenge arises from the importance of altruism in modern ethical thought and the question of what altruism has to do with intrinsic excellence part two argues that altruistic benevolence does indeed have a crucial place in excellence of character but that moral virtue should also be expected to involve excellence in being for other goods besides the well being and the rights of other persons it explores relations among cultural goods personal relationships one's own good and the good of others as objects of excellent motives the other challenge the subject of part three of the book is typified by doubts about the reality of moral virtue arising from experiments and conclusions in social psychology adams explores in detail the prospects for an empirically realistic conception of excellence of character as an object of moral aspiration endeavor and education he argues that such a conception will involve renunciation of the ancient thesis of the unity or mutual implication of all virtues and acknowledgment of sufficient moral luck in the development of any individual's character to make virtue very largely a gift rather than an individual achievement though nonetheless excellent and admirable for that this book is for the people who lead our companies our world suffered a staggering blow we will recover many of our companies are still suffering some of them will not recover we re in a time of disruption a company's culture will play a big part in managing through this disruption senior leaders must establish a clear purpose a strong set of core values and a plan to translate strategy into action companies will be seeking to transform to become more efficient and resilient most attempts to do so fail they fail because we try to solve the wrong problem with the wrong system we attempt to change the way people act but to achieve sustained improvement we must focus on changing the way they think over the last thirty years we've experimented with lean six sigma and other improvement initiatives each failed to move beyond average performance and sustain transformational improvement average then became a learned behavior to move forward we must unlearn some things we must change our problem definition and our defined systems and we can do this by framing the problem through the lens of operational excellence we all have freedom of choice nobody is telling you what you must do it is your conscience that you have to live with as we look around us these days do you notice how the world has changed we went from better to worse worse to horrific and we re heading from horrific to dread we can have the power to control situations only if we raise the levels of our own consciousness and get back to basics remember when we wore white shirts and black ties for assembly when your parents told you to do something you didn t ask why you just did it when no one is looking is about bringing integrity back into our lives and being more conscious of decisions we make and actions we take which can make this a better world the most influential tool we have in your entire arsenal is your integrity zig zigler only a person with integrity has the ability to command a long time respect and admiration young or old rich or poor it doesn t matter what you have now you can live with integrity and elegance and you can take utmost pride in that that is because integrity is something you decide to have it is a principle you chose to live by each of us will someday be judged by our standard of life not by the standard of living by our measure of giving not by our measure of wealth by our simple goodness not by seeming greatness william arthur ward
