joshy starts school at age four unable to express his thoughts or feelings or even to understand what his teacher is saying he has specific language impairment he sounds more like a two year old than a four year old the book tells the story of the relationships between joshy his mother and his speech therapist all three are changed by the year of their working together joshy s adventure reveals how his silence becomes his greatest strength the book explores the place of silence and listening in human relationships and the treasures that can be found in both speech and silence

Patrick Henry in His Speeches and Writings and in the Words of His Contemporaries 2007 an expert analysis of abraham lincoln s three most powerful speeches reveals his rhetorical genius and his thoughts on our national character abraham lincoln our greatest president believed that our national character was defined by three key moments the writing of the constitution our declaration of independence from england and the beginning of slavery on the north american continent his thoughts on these landmarks can be traced through three speeches the lyceum address the gettysburg address and the second inaugural the latter two are well known enshrined forever on the walls of the lincoln memorial the former is much less familiar to most written a quarter century before his presidency when he was a 28 year old illinois state legislator in his greatest speeches professor diana schaub offers a brilliant line by line analysis of these timeless works placing them in historical context and explaining the brilliance behind their rhetoric the result is a complete vision of lincoln s worldview that is sure to fascinate and inspire general readers and history buffs alike this book is a wholly original resource for considering the difficult questions of american purpose and identity questions that are no less contentious or essential today than they were over two hundred years ago this historic book may have numerous typos and missing text purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher not indexed not illustrated 1911 edition excerpt ii what to say the student of public speaking will do well to confine his first efforts to simple forms of speech making plain narrative and clear statement of fact should be his primary objects the ornamental graces of rhetoric and oratory may advantageously be left for subsequent consideration his subject may be anything from a personal experience such as a visit to new york or london to a discussion of some social or political question of the day but whatever theme he choose to speak upon it is important that it be timely and of probable interest to his hearers the highest oratorical talents will not atone for an inappropriate choice of subject there are hundreds of vital topics in which most men are more or less interested a selection may be made from these before attempting to write speeches of his own the student will find it profitable to examine those of others a good selection of which is provided in this volume cicero says since all the business and art of an orator is divided into five parts he ought first to find out what he should say next to arrange and dispose his matter not only in a certain order but with a sort of power and judgment then to clothe and deck his thoughts with language then to secure them in his memory and lastly to deliver them with dignity and grace i had learned and understood also that before we enter upon the main subject the minds of the audience should be conciliated by an exordium next that the case should be clearly stated then that the point in controversy should be established then that what we may maintain should be supported by proof and that whatever was said on the other side should be refuted and that in the conclusion of our speech whatever was in our

in his final speech i ve been to the mountaintop martin luther king jr delivered his support of african american garbage workers on strike in memphis although some consider this oration king s finest it is mainly known for its concluding two minutes wherein king compares himself to moses and seems to predict his own assassination but king gave an hour long speech and the concluding segment can only be understood in relation to the whole king scholars generally focus on his theology not his relation to the bible or the circumstance of a baptist speaking in a pentecostal setting even though king cited and explicated the bible in hundreds of speeches and sermons martin luther king s biblical epic is the first book to analyze his approach to the bible and its importance to his rhetoric and persuasiveness martin luther king s biblical epic argues that king challenged dominant christian supersessionist conceptions of judaism in favor of a christianity that affirms judaism as its wellspring in his final speech king implicitly but strongly argues that one can grasp jesus only by first grasping mooses and the hebrew prophets this book also traces the roots of king s speech to its pentecostal setting and to the pentecostals in his audience in doing so miller puts forth the first scholarship to credit the mostly unknown but brilliant african american architect who created the large yet compact church sanctuary which made possible the unique connection between king and his audience on the night of his last speech
