Children and the Geography of Violence

2013

violence sabotages development both children's development and the development of the communities and neighbourhoods they rely on there is abundant evidence of the deep and lasting harm that can be done violence breaks bodies and minds and exerts an insidious influence at every level the effects are immediate but can also linger damaging health trust and capability traveling through generations this book argues that it is impossible to understand the violence in young children's lives or to respond to it adequately without considering how embedded it is within their physical surroundings the relations of power that are the context for violence within households within communities and beyond are often expressed through control over space and the material conditions of life this book links the abstract concept of structural violence to the stark reality of personal harm drawing on evidence from a range of disciplines and from countries throughout the global south it explores the dynamics of cramped insecure housing poor water and sanitation neglected neighbourhoods forced evictions cities that segregate the rich and the poor landscapes of conflict and disaster and discusses their implications for young children an alternative approach to child protection is proposed anchored in the actions of organized communities negotiating to challenge inequities mend their environments and achieve security there is a fundamental synergy between building community and protecting children these are not separate agendas a place that works for children works better for everyone else as well this book will be essential reading for all those interested in young children in a global context whether as child protection professionals or those with a more general interest in children's rights issues or in cross cultural approaches to child development it will also be of great interest to students and researchers of development studies conflict studies family studies child development public health and urban planning

2014

sub saharan africa has the highest prevalence of hunger in the world until this situation improves the human development prospects of millions of africans will remain at risk undp s first africa human development report shows that food security and human development reinforce each other if african countries are to realise their long term potential the report says they must boost agricultural productivity to both improve the availability of food and reduce poverty policies to enhance nutrition are central to ensuring that access to food translates into human development the report argues further that local populations must have the resources and decision making power to produce and consume nutritious food throughout the year overcoming the risks represented by continuing conflict climate change and variations in food prices

Africa Human Development Report 2012

the african continent is currently in the midst of simultaneously unfolding and highly significant demographic economic technological environmental urban and socio political transitions africa s economic performance is promising with booming cities supporting growing middle classes and creating sizable consumer markets despite significant overall growth the continent continues to suffer under very rapid urban growth accompanied by massive urban poverty and many other social problems these seem to indicate that the development trajectories followed by african nations since post independence may not be able to deliver on the aspirations of broad based human development and prosperity for all this report therefore argues for a bold re imagining of prevailing models in order to steer the ongoing transitions towards greater sustainability based on a thorough review of all available options that is especially the case since the already daunting urban challenges in africa are now being exacerbated by the new vulnerabilities and threats associated with climate and environmental change

Occasional Papers in Geography

this report argues that for african countries to reap developmental gains from intra african trade and regional integration they need to place the building of productive capacities and domestic entrepreneurship at the heart of the policy agenda for boosting intra regional trade it also analyses the range of strategies and complementary policies that will be needed besides trade policies to ensure that regional integration enhances african enterprise development and economic development in general it explores among others the role of national and regional industrial policy and the scope for developing regional development corridors lessons are drawn from other developmental regional experiences

The State of African Cities, 2014

2018

the 2013 human development report analyses the causes and consequences of the continuing rise of the south and identifies policies rooted in this new reality that could promote greater progress throughout the world for decades to come the report calls for far better representation of the south in global governance systems and points to potential new sources of financing within the south for essential public goods with fresh analytical insights and clear proposals for policy reforms the report charts a course for people in all regions to face shared human development challenges together fairly and effectively

Economic Development in Africa

2013

when women in politics interact with reporters opponents and constituents they are forced to confront their parental status if they have children they are questioned about their competence in both their public and private lives if they don't they face criticism for not understanding or relating to key policy domains this damned if you do damned if you don't conundrum raises difficult questions about how politicians voters and the media navigate the intersection of gender parental status and politics mothers and others brings together scholars researching political careers party organization political behaviour and representation and public policy to discuss the role of parental status in political life they look at three main areas of citizen engagement with the political system parenthood and political careers parenthood in the media and parenthood and political behaviour to argue that being a parent is a gendered political identity that influences how why and to what extent women and men engage with politics the first major comparative analysis of the role of parenthood in politics mothers and others makes important observations about what we know and what we still need to find out mothers and others is for scholars and students of political science gender and women's studies and sociology both in canada and abroad ed

Special Papers

american colleges and universities have been relatively quick to address the challenge of sustainability in operations ironically they have been slower to respond in regard to their core mission educating students teaching sustainability aims to redress this shortcoming by opening doors to education for sustainability in the humanities and social sciences the essays in this collection are richly diverse they investigate ways sustainability education pushes back against traditional disciplines while it simultaneously benefits from the perspectives and skills these fields have to offer they also address big questions such as how to make education meaningful how to examine hidden assumptions underlying current curricula and how a focus on sustainability can answer critics of contemporary higher education the heart of teaching sustainability is reflection and advice on pedagogy from these richly diverse case studies important common themes emerge the symbiotic relationship between classroom and campus operations techniques for transforming the campus itself from merely a setting to a learning laboratory and the potential of community partners for teaching sense of place an equally significant theme is the overlap between sustainability education and emerging best practice in pedagogy essays on theory and practice individual and collaborative projects service learning and consequential activities all exemplify how sustainability and deep learning go hand and hand like sustainability itself the volume infuses theory with practical application the contributors demonstrate the ways in which a single course can serve as a powerful change agent for an entire campus how to build bridges between faculty and administrators and even how to move forward on modest budgets the authors themselves constitute a network of advisors publisher's description
